

“Looking for a way to improve your company’s bottom line?” Find out about a new tax savings opportunity for both you and your employees.

If you are interested in starting this program, check with your local transit agency to see if they would be interesting in accepting vouchers.

Listed below are a few companies that can assist you in administering your program.

Across the country, thousands of employers use Commuter Check. Commuter Check is a national provider of transit benefits, serves more than 5,000 employers and 150,000 employees, and has efficiently delivered more than $200 million in transit benefits since 1990. The benefits apply to all types of employers in the private, public and nonprofit sectors.

Employees get Commuter Check vouchers to redeem for passes and tickets for bus, train, ferry or vanpool operators. It’s a great employee benefit, and every month, more employers are enrolling.

Commuter Check works like other pre-tax plans such as dependant care and medical reimbursement, except it’s much simpler. Unlike most benefits, there are no tax forms to fill out or reports to submit, and your employees appreciate it every month.

If you’d like more detailed information on Commuter Checks go to their Web site at <http://www.commutercheck.com>. Here you will find employee information, more employer information that includes a tax savings worksheet, how to get started, tax code information, creative uses, etc. or contact:
